

Secular Ketubah Text

On the _____ day of the week, the _____ day of the month of _____, in the year _____ here in _____.

The bridegroom, _____ son of _____ and _____. And the bride, _____ daughter of _____ and _____ are set to unite in the presence of their beloved family and friends.

We commit to pursue a life filled with love, trust, and mutual respect for one another.

We promise to celebrate together during successes and encourage each other during hardships.

We will pursue a life filled with meaning, joy, and adventure.

We will seek to grow – both as a couple and as individuals.

We will strive to lead by example – to raise a family based on love and caring.

And we will always, always, ALWAYS remind each other how much we love each other.

May this Ketubah serve as a sacred covenant of our everlasting bond.
